Q9 Research has shown that arts education increases student engagement, helps close opportunity gaps, and reduces dropout rates, yet a recent study in King County shows that race and income are barriers to access to the arts. How do you see yourself addressing fair access in your district?

Our board has begun to implement vocal music's return to the curriculum. And the musical instruments have been unearthed so students can try out instruments before parents rent one. I continue to offer old school art after school. The class is open to those to can listen and sit still. However it is limited in size as there is a shortage of adult volunteers.

Q10 If elected, which of these strategies would you consider to support arts education in your district?

- Work for a budget to financially support arts instruction at all schools
- Support professional development for classroom teachers
- Create a local arts education task-force

Q11 If elected, would you like Arts, Culture & Education updates from ArtsEd Washington?
