INSTRUCTIONAL STRATEGIES FOR TEACHERS AND STUDENTS

TEACHER	STUDENT
Introduces Reading Aloud by Fay Jones and Scene du Jardin by Henry Manguin or Diego Rivera's Mother's Helper. Prompts: What is happening in this painting? Do you think this is a family scene? Why? What is the relationship of the people in the picture? Does their location tell us More? If this picture is showing the beginning of a story, what would happen next?	Describes family scene. Infers information about family based on observations.
Leads students to find the location in space of various elements of the paintings: above, below, behind, and in-between. Asks students to pose with each other to show spatial relationships: above, below, through, under, behind, around, and in-between in pairs and groups of three.	Describes location of various painting elements. Demonstrates spatial relationships.
Reviews secondary colors by looking at the painting and associating them with secondary colors on the color wheel(s): Poster or individual.	Identifies object by secondary color: green shirt, orange flowers, etc.
Guides students to think about and draw their family. Prompts: How many members are there in your family? Where will you show them together for a main idea about your family? Are they inside? Outside? What are they doing? Are they going somewhere? Turn to a neighbor at your table and describe your family and what you will show in your picture that will tell us about them. Uses any oil pastels to draw the shapes, without coloring in the shapes.	Draws family members in personally selected location.
Demonstrates creating an oil pastel resist. Prompts: Using the primary watercolor pans in front of you, mix a secondary color in a mixing tray/lid. Does it match the secondary colors on the color wheel? Paint over the whole picture with the secondary color you mixed.	Creates an oil pastel resist.
Guides reflection on family and placement in space in own art. Prompts: Tell us about the family members in your picture. What is the setting? What are they doing? In your picture: Point to something above, below, behind and in-between.	Students describe and reflect on their pictures. Embedded Assessment: Criteria-based self-evaluation

 Henri Manguin, Scene du Jardin, MAC; Diego Rivera, Mother's Helper

Art Materials:

oil pastels,
 watercolor paints in primary colors,
 student-grade watercolor paper 11x14,
 1" flat spongebrushes,
 water cups,

ART STUDIO TIP

Developmentally, children of this age are just beginning to learn about the human figure and spatial relationships.

This lesson focuses on identifying placement of figures AFTER the art is completed.

LESSON EXPANSION

Using pictures from Faith Ringgold's story, Tar Beach, or painting Dancing at the Louvre, ask the students to identify the location of the family in the picture. Then ask the students to draw their family outside the home setting and with a main idea.

EVERYDAY CONNECTIONS

Home/Community References:
 family, setting

Tell Me About Your Art!

Dear First Grade Families:

Today we drew

OUR FAMILY

with a main idea about where they were and what they were doing.

Looking: We looked at Reading Aloud by Fay Jones and Scene du Jardin by Henry Manguin or Diego Rivera's Mother's Helper. We looked for locations and spatial relationships of objects in a composition.

Talking: We talked about our family members and where we wanted to show them (setting). After we drew our family we talked about each other's compositions and identified parts in the compositions that were above, below, behind, and in-between.

Making: We drew our family in oil pastel, and then created an oil pastel resist by mixing a secondary color: orange, green or violet, and washed watercolor over the drawing.

Art at Home

Together:

You could identify the placement of any object in your home.

Questions to ask:

Find something that is above, below, behind and in-between.

Selecting subjects and placing the objects in relation to each other creates a main idea.
